HMC Architects' Sacramento Office Announces Four Staff Promotions

SACRAMENTO, Calif., November 2007—HMC Architects recently promoted four of its staff members to the positions of senior project manager, project manager, project leader, and job captain.

"The advancement of these professionals speaks to their commitment to HMC's philosophy of thought leading innovation, client service, and design excellence," said Principal Phil Nemeth, AIA, LEED® AP. "It is an honor to recognize their respective career achievements."

Senior Project Manager Michael Rath, AIA, has been a project manager with HMC for nine years and brings more than 15 years of experience to HMC. Rath is responsible for overseeing projects with an aggregate value of more than $10,000,000. He also works directly with the firm's principals, clients, general contractors, and construction managers.

Project Manager Raija Clar is a Certified Interior Designer and has more than 13 years of experience in education, commercial, and healthcare architecture. With the firm since 2000, Raija works closely with clients and manages multiple projects and production teams to keep the project within budget and on schedule.

Project Leader Stanley Ng joined HMC in 2006 and has 10 years of experience. Ng is responsible for managing document and consultant coordination.

Job Captain Sean MacDonald has been with HMC for seven years and has provided CAD capabilities and utilization support on multiple healthcare and education projects. As Job Captain, MacDonald will manage the plan check process and provide technical support during construction. He also troubleshoots the office's information technology needs.

Throughout its history, HMC Architects has established a reputation as an award-winning design firm and thought leader for education, healthcare, and government facilities. Founded in 1940, HMC is one of the largest planning and design firms headquartered in California with offices strategically located throughout the west.
